Welcome to Diabetik Foot Care India Private Limited

It is well-known that Diabetes has become a dangerous disease today. More and more people are developing Diabetes as it is stimulated by both genetic and environmental factors. As per the World Health Organisation (WHO), by 2030, the number of diabetics will exceed 350 million across the world. Today, it is not restricted to the elderly age group as an increasing number of young adults are also developing the disease. The same is true for India also, where a large number of people already have the disease and
