Welcome To Songara All Ayurvedic Pvt. Ltd.

We believe that when it comes to self-care, creating daily rituals to honor & love the mind, body & skin will cultivate optimal well-being. Our products are intended to connect people to becoming a part of the self-care process. From empowering people to have the option to create their ideal skincare ritual to connecting our product's users to the plants & minerals in which they are made from, to encouraging each other to make space in our days for the necessary ritual of self-care. By creating awareness around how we take care of ourselves & how we relate to the elements of the world, we rediscover our interconnection with the natural world & its rhythmic cycle. Selecting quality ingredients to craft our line is important to uphold ancient Ayurvedic traditions & to offer products that are nutrient rich; containing the highest amount of healing constituents. All ingredients are selected from premium sources, holding high standards for natural, sustainable & ethical practices. By setting honest standards of tradition & sustainability, our hope is to encourage others to do the same. We seek to raise the consciousness & awareness of the whole by practicing the philosophy of ahimsa or nonviolence in making our products. We believe that by offering respect & gratitude to the plants & minerals that make up our products, we are able to receive even deeper benefits from their innate wisdom. Our products are available in the purest form that is obtained by an advanced extraction process. Our state-of-the-art herbal extraction plant is ISO and GMP certified. Our team of talented and highly qualified personnel is engaged in improving and optimizing production at every stage of the process. Our in-house R&D lab is constantly working to improve existing products and innovating new concepts in this field of herbal products.
