Welcome to VETMIDO

Animal health and nutrition is what VETMIDO has happily partnered with - to manufacture, export, distribute, and wholesale world-quality animal products under the name VETMIDO and ensure that they are marketed and branded as some of the finest in the world. Our promise is to take care of livestock by providing specific products for particular animals, thus improving health, more growth, better reproduction, and enhanced productivity. At VETMIDO, what flies with quality has to do with innovation. Every product is developed through very advanced research following the greatest and highest international standards. We base our commitment to better performance and welfare of animals in sustainability, credibility, and effectiveness, giving very meaningful backup to farmers and livestock owners globally. VETMIDO will surely guarantee you the finest fate in feed additives, growth enhancers, and preventive health care therapies for animals. For the beacon of veterinary excellence, we strive to maintain healthier livestock and a thriving agricultural sector. Connect with us and see the difference in animal care and performance.
